...`Coaching by values`, de Simon Dolan, un `best seller

*These are two journalists that interview Guardiola in his office. They want to know what he is reading. Guardiola is known for reading a lot. So, there is an example of his readings on his desk, and the journalists describe the books..... one of them they say (based on what he told them) is the best selling book of Simon Dolan Coaching by values, where he is trying to understand how values that apply to organizations can also serve in the sport industry.*
